

Consequences of Student Misconduct

Consequences tell students what will happen to them if they break the rules. The first time a student breaks a rule there is usually a warning, subsequent misbehavior will receive more serious consequences according to the Levels listed below. Rule breaking is broken into four levels of misconduct. As the gravity of the misconduct increases, the severity of the consequence also increases. All discipline imposed by the Administration and Board of Trustees of The Queen City Academy Charter School is pursuant to state law and regulation, see N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, et seq., and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1, et seq.

Detention Policy

The Queen City Academy Charter School believes strongly in the development and growth of our children. One aspect in the process of development is the understanding of the effect that one's actions may have upon the individual, the classroom (as a whole), the community (the school) and the world. There is also the belief that the knowledge of breaking a rule or regulation also results with a natural or logical consequence. (The natural consequence of defacing property is to clean it up; the logical consequence of disobedience is some type of activity that will cause one to reflect and change one's behavior.)

These are life lessons that together with the philosophy of education of The Queen City Academy Charter School, the Code of Conduct and the individual classroom rules (age and grade appropriate), provide a common understanding and fair process by which our student shall function and be held accountable for their own actions.

It is with these principles in mind that the Faculty of The Queen City Academy Charter School and the Board of Trustees, have installed a daily detention program running Monday through Thursday.

Please note, four (4) disciplinary detentions, not homework or uniform detentions, will result in three (3) days out of school suspension.

When students break the code of conduct, they will face a series of consequences as outlined below.

Level I Misconduct is behavior on the part of the student that can be easily changed by parental and teacher intervention. It is behavior that is not in keeping with our school community expectations. When parents fulfill the requirement that children must be sent to school ready and able to participate in school each day, misconduct of this sort is minimized.

Level I Examples	Level I Consequences
Bringing radios, toys, cell phones, or electronics to school	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. School personnel will take toy/electronics away from child. Parents will be notified. 2. Student will receive an after-school detention on second offense (Grades 5-8). 3. Recess detention on second offense (Gr. 2-4)
Missing Homework	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Phone call to parent from teacher 2. After-school detention on 1st offense (Gr. 5-8) 3. Recess detention on 1st offense (Gr. 2-4)

Level II Misconduct is behavior on the part of the student which impedes orderly classroom procedures, interferes with the orderly operation of the school, or is not in keeping with our school community expectations. Such behavior, as listed below, will be handled by the child's teacher or other school personnel and the parent will be notified.

A student may be referred to the Intervention and Referral Services (I&RS) Team if consistent Level II misbehaviors are present.

Level III Misconduct reflects serious breaches in the discipline policy. Such behavior whose frequency or seriousness disrupts the learning climate of the school and the safety of the school community must be handled by school personnel, parental involvement, and student suspension for a period of one to two days.

Level III Examples	Level III Consequences
Continuation of unmodified Level II misbehaviors	Discussion with Administration/Suspension
Two previous suspensions
Willful disrespect to staff
Sexual Harassment not rising to the level of a crime or offense	Discussion with Administration/Suspension
Bullying not rising to the level of a crime or offense
Failure to serve/reschedule detention within 3 days of notification

A behavioral action plan will be developed at this stage.

Level IV Misconduct is conduct on the part of the student that constitutes a danger to the well being of the student or others. This type of misconduct includes but is not limited to, bringing weapons to school, assaulting another student or a staff member. A single infraction of this level of behavior, if it constitutes a crime or offense, will be reported to law enforcement authorities. State law and regulation pertaining to the suspension and expulsion of a student will be followed.

Level IV Consequences almost always involve suspension or expulsion, consistent with the statutes and regulations of the State of New Jersey pertaining to school discipline. When the Academic Director recommends long term suspension or expulsion a due process hearing will be conducted by the Board of Trustees or a Disciplinary Committee comprised of Trustees, and the final determination will be made by the Board of Trustees. All students subject to long term suspension or expulsion will receive home instruction pursuant to New Jersey statutes and regulations. If instruction is delivered in the student's home, a parent or other adult 21 years of age or older who has been designated by the parent shall be present during all periods of home instruction. Willful failure to cooperate or participate in home instruction can constitute a violation of the compulsory education laws and result in a complaint being brought against a parent.
